Synopsis :

Review "What you hold in your hands is a piece of a very large puzzle. It represents the first installment in one of the most ambitious projects ever undertaken in this or any other field. It is a project that involves science and history, politics and religion; fiction and non-fiction. All of these elements are woven together in an effort to express a singular truth. While they each can be appreciated in a stand-alone way—and who, after reading this thrilling novel, could disagree?—taken together they reveal an aspect of reality that is so astonishing that it only can be understood intuitively as well as rationally." -Peter Levenda, Author of Sekret Machines non-fiction series'An exhilarating thrill ride from the first page with a compelling cast of characters, a tantalizing mystery, and a gripping adventure. I may not look at the night sky the same way again!' -David Morrell, New York Times bestselling author of The Shimmer"Sekret Machines scratches at the surface of "who do" we trust with our classified technology - certainly our adversaries are aware of our undertakings, as they are doing the same, but what of our citizens, our politicians, even our own military. Tom DeLonge and A.J. Hartley create a convincing narrative describing the "cat and mouse" game that is timeless between strategic adversaries. It has existed under the sea, on the surface of the earth and in its skies, why wouldn't we believe it occurs in space. Our military leaders have been saying space is a contested environment for years now, perhaps we should believe them!" -Maj. Gen. Michael J. Carey - Special Assistant to the Commander, Air Force Space Command'Twisted. Explosive. The best thriller of the year!' -New York Times bestselling author Faith Hunter'The prose is a joy; effortlessly pulling off the feat of making the unbelievable appear not only plausible but utterly, terrifyingly, realistic. ... Billed as the first of a trilogy, Sekret Machines redefines 'provocative'; we defy you not to lie awake questioning everything that you ever thought you knew after you've turned the last page.' -STARBURST Magazine"The generation-spanning, international scope of the story is impressive" and "a four-pronged thriller that hooks you in at different times" -UPSET Magazine"It has intrigue, high-technology, betrayal, lights in the sky, religion, covert affairs, politics, history, and it takes everything you thought you knew about the world around you and flips it right over." -Modern Little Victories Read more About the Author Tom DeLonge is an award-winning producer, director and multi-platinum recording artist best known as the lead vocalist in blink-182 and Angels & Airwaves. He lives in San Diego, California where he runs his entertainment production company To The Stars.. that focuses on science-fiction transmedia storytelling. A.J. Hartley is the New York Times and USA Today bestselling author of books in a variety of genres and was born and raised in Lancashire in Northern England,. AJ's stories are driven by mystery and danger but also reflect his abiding interest in archaeology, history, and foreign travel. As an English major at Manchester University he took extra classes in Egyptology and got a job working on a Bronze Age site just outside Jerusalem. Since then, life has taken him to many places around the world, and though he always leaned more towards the literary than to the strictly historical, his fascination with the past continues unabated. He has an M.A. and Ph.D. in English literature from Boston University, and he is the Russell Robinson Professor of Shakespeare Studies at the University of North Carolina, Charlotte, and works as a scholar, screenwriter, dramaturg and theatre director.
